

Feminisms and Rhetorics 11th Biennial Conference
October 4-7, 2017

Social Media Curator Application
Deadline: July 15, 2017 by midnight EST

About

The Feminisms and Rhetorics 2017 Planning Committee is pleased to announce applications for the Social Media Curator Travel Grant. This grant will provide individuals assistance in attending the 11th biennial conference by covering the cost of registration. A total of 8 grants will be awarded.

Responsibilities

Recipients of the Social Media Curator Travel Grant will be responsible for:

- Promoting events on social media (Twitter, Facebook, Instagram) in advance of the conference,
- Coordinating, as a team, the FemRhet 2017 social media accounts for each day of the conference,
- Archiving social media content after the conference for preservation on the CFSHRC website.

Qualifications:

- Required: Any graduate student or contingent (part-/full-time non-tenure track) faculty member who has been accepted to present at the 2017 Feminisms and Rhetorics conference.
- Preferred: Knowledge of social media platforms, ability to develop social media content quickly and provide guidance for digital storytelling.

Application Details:

Please complete all portions of the application below and email your completed document to feminismsandrhetorics@gmail.com with the subject line "Social Media Curator Travel Grant."

Name:

University Affiliation:

Title of Accepted Conference Presentation:

In approximately 200 words, please describe your interests and qualifications for the Social Media Curator position.

Please provide a list of 4 story ideas you could create either to promote the conference in advance or to produce while you attend the conference.